

IP GROWTH AND FUNDING COMPARISONS OF FINTECH IPO CANDIDATES

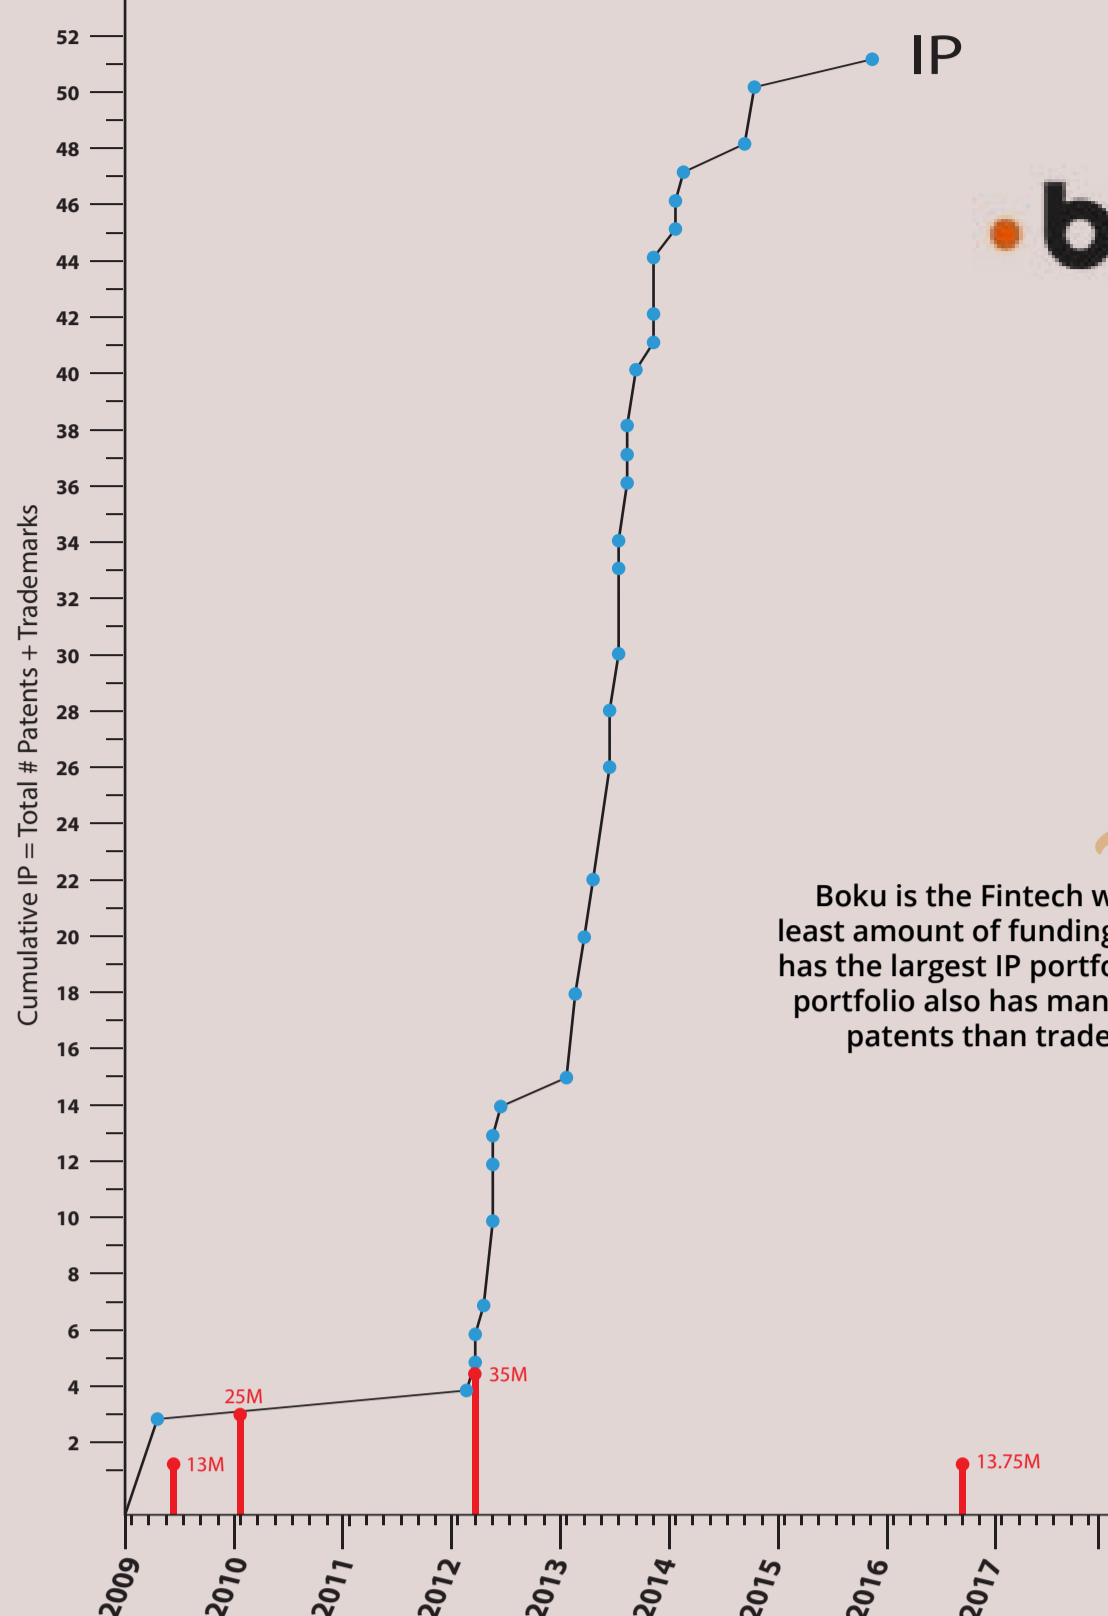

From IPqquery, here are intellectual property growth comparisons for some Fintechs that PrivCo has identified as IPO Candidates in 2017.

As per the PrivCo 2017 IPO Outlook report here

Charted are the cumulative intellectual property filings (patents and trademarks) for each company, as well as the timeline and value of their funding rounds.

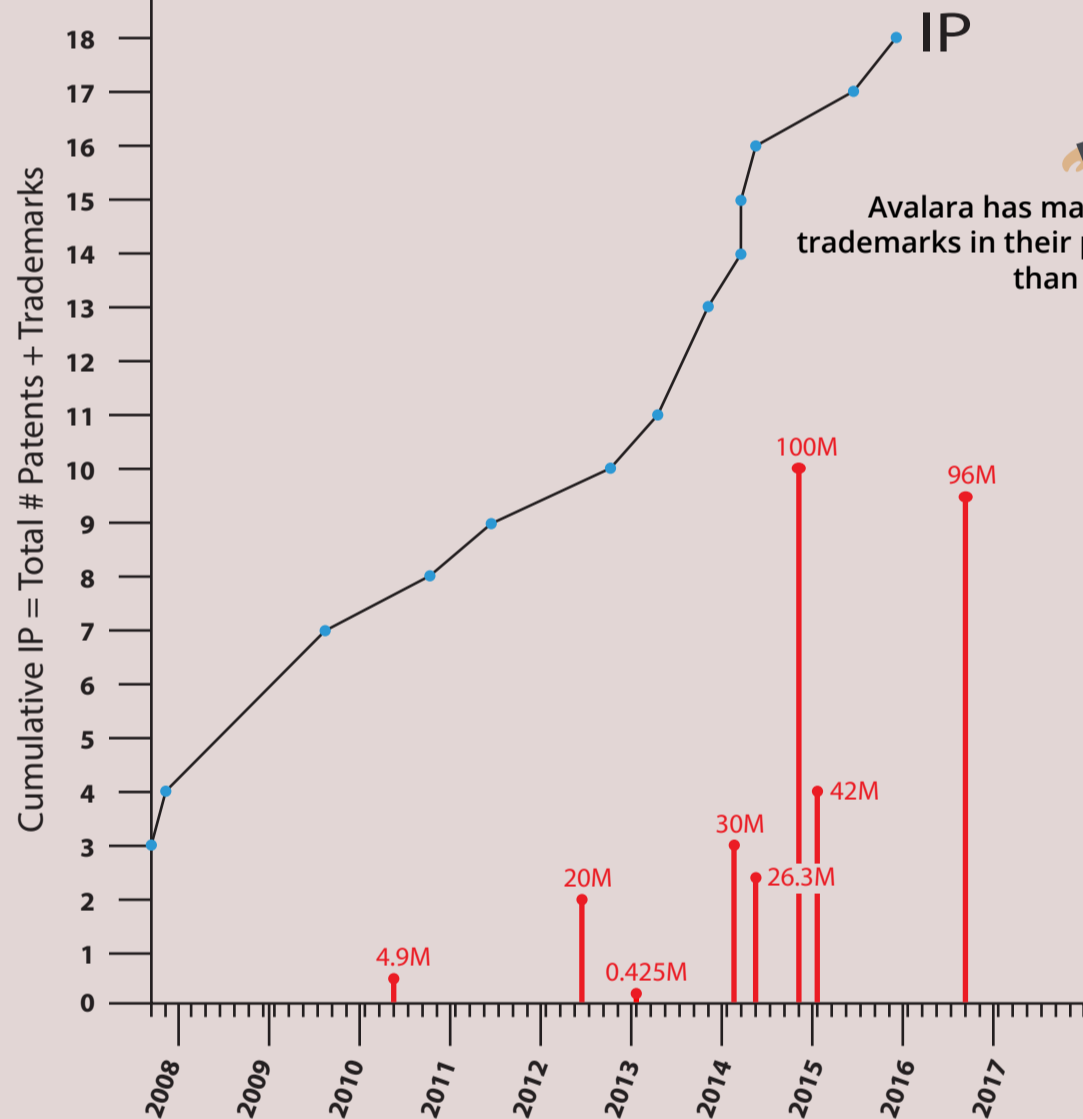

The slope of the line indicates an increase in the rate of IP filings, typically closely associated with funding.

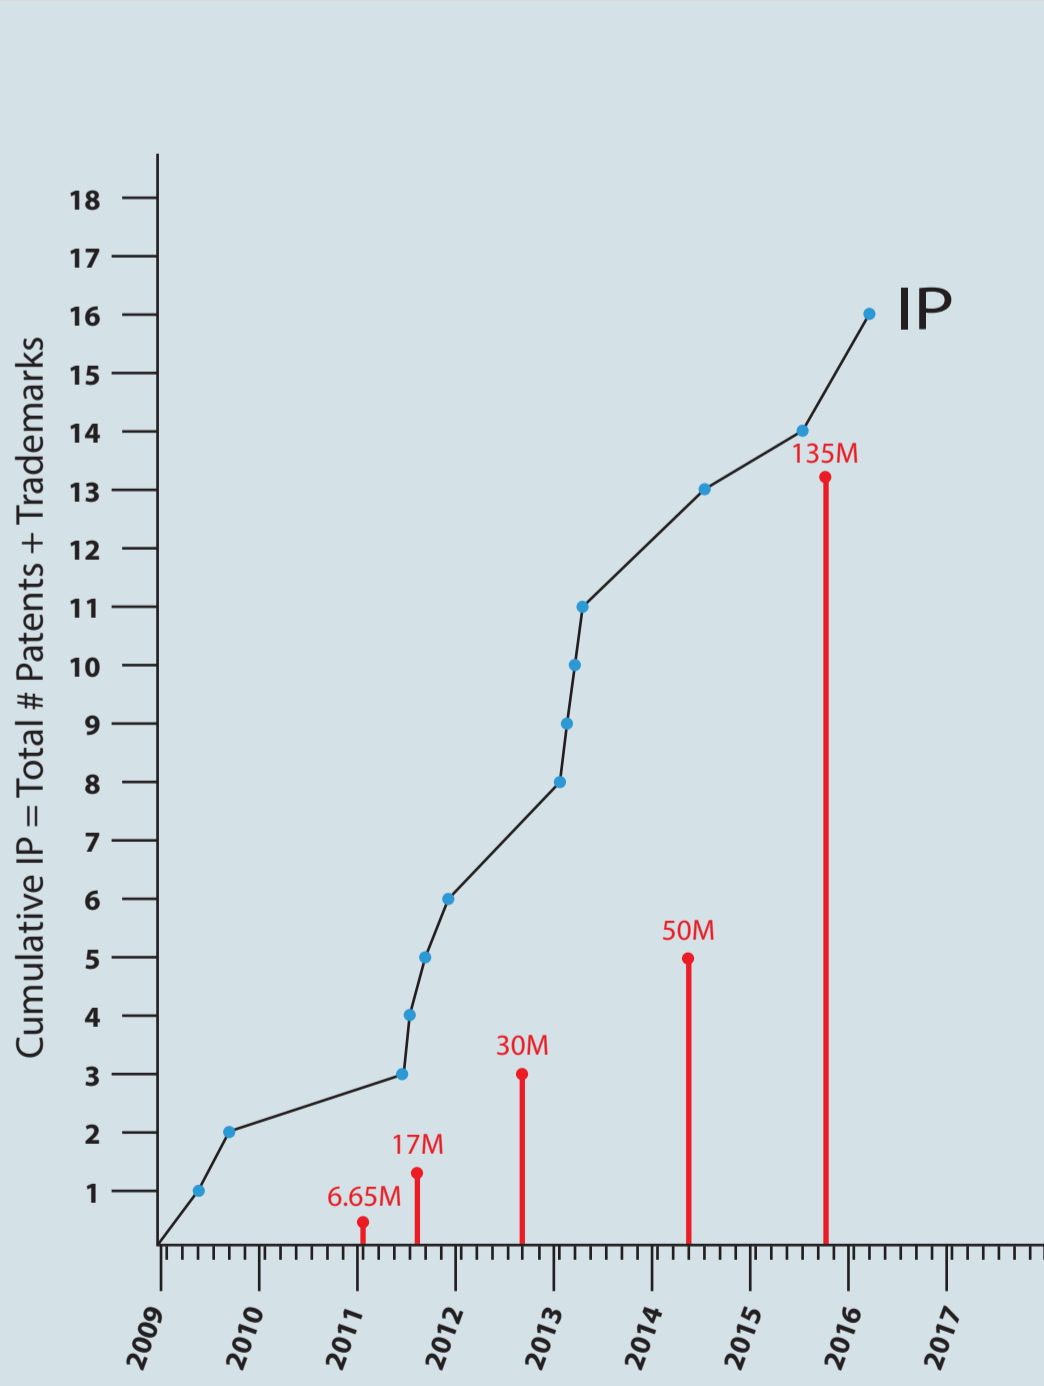

Boku is the Fintech with the least amount of funding, but it has the largest IP portfolio. It's portfolio also has many more patents than trademarks.

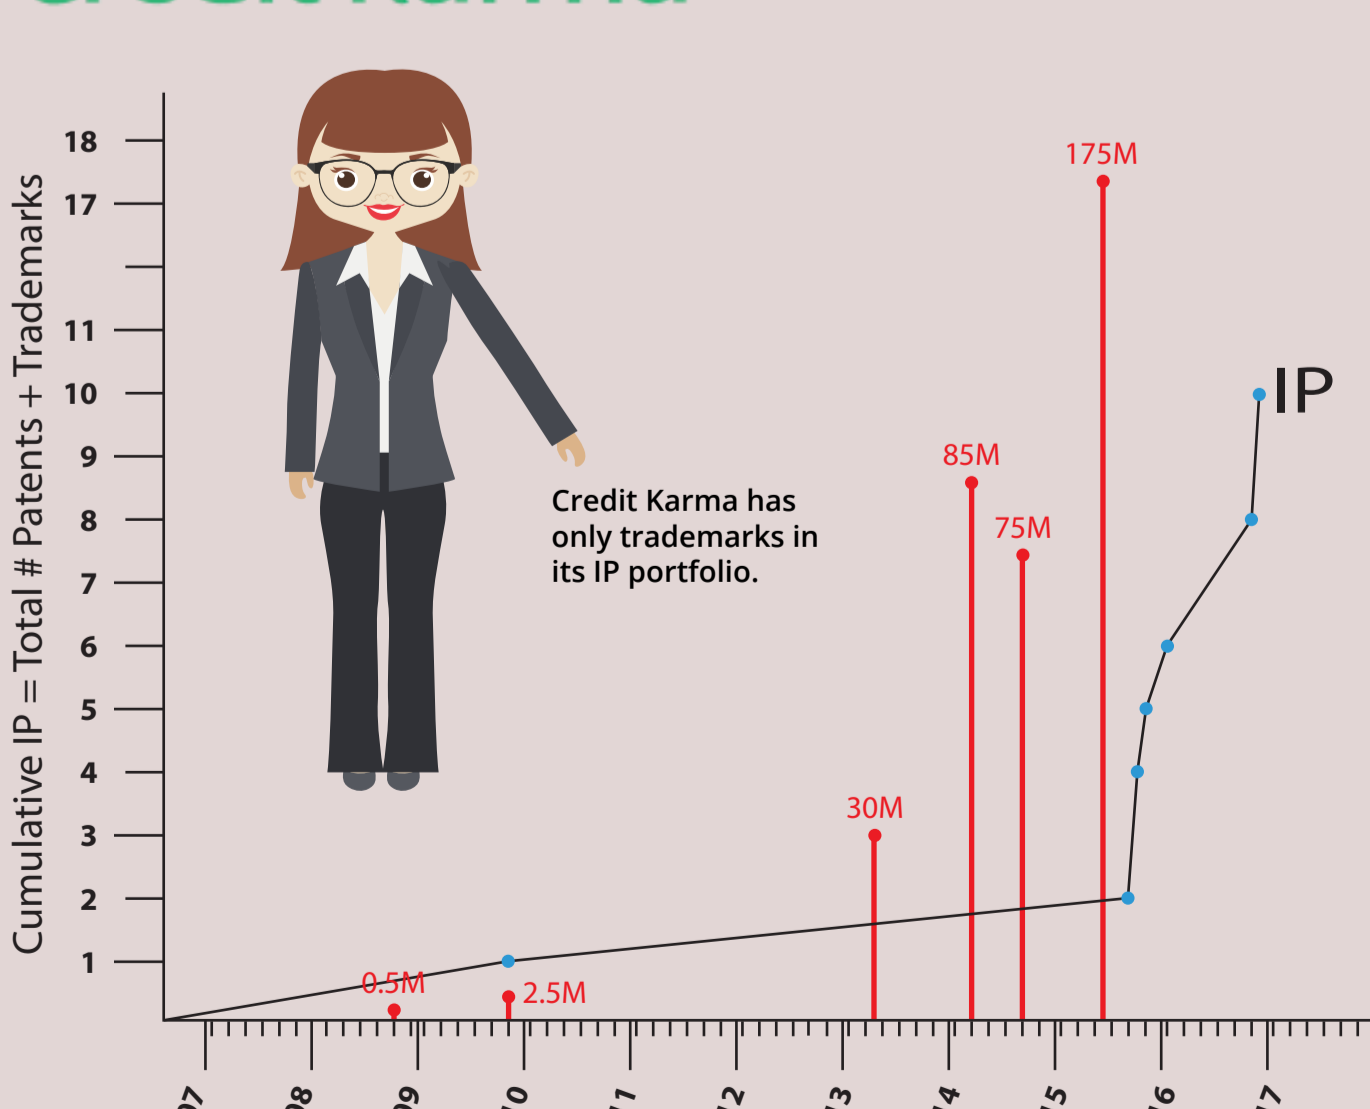

Avant has only trademarks in its IP portfolio.

Avalara has many more trademarks in their portfolio than patents.

Kabbage has fairly balanced IP in its portfolio.

Credit Karma has only trademarks in its IP portfolio.
